DOJ chief orders murder raps dropped vs Zaldy, Akmad

By Dona Z. Pazi-Bugan and Marlon Ramon

THE GOVERNMENT WILL DROP MURDER CHARGES against two prominent members of the powerful Ampatuan clan in connection with the November 2009 massacre of 57 people, including 31 media workers, in Maguindanao.

Zaldy Ampatuan, the suspended Muslim Mindanao, and his cousin Akmad Ampatuan, the former acting vice governor of Maguindanao, will be dropped from the list of those accused, Acting Justice Secretary Alberto Aguirre said yesterday.

The two men were initially alleged to be among the key players of the massacre that drew condemnation from all over the world.

Aguirre said he had ordered state prosecutors to exclude Zaldy and Akmad

Ampatuan from the information sheet filed before the court, and that the prosecution would formally inform Quezon City Judge Jocelyn Solis-Rivera that they were not charging the two with murder.

Asked if the two would now be released, Aguirre said: "I will depend on the judge."

Zaldy and Akmad Ampatuan were among the family members transferred from detention in General Santos City and Davao City to Camp Baguio Drive in Iligan, Tuguegarao City on Friday night.

The dropping of charges is seen to provoke outrage among the massacre victims' relatives, who have repeatedly voiced concerns that President Ma

Loren: Why NP's left, right, center fit together

By Michael Lim Ulac

IF YOU CAN BELIEVE ITS VICE presidential candidate, the Nacionalista Party is an oasis of calm compared to rival camps beset by infighting and clashes of egos among its big-name politicians running under their banners.

There is unity and coherence within the NP camp and a high respect for each other, said Sen. Loren Legarda, who is running as a "pacer" candidate of the NP.

"The difference in this campaign—we have no tension between and among us," Legarda said before editors and reporters recently.

She outlined the pivotal role played by the party's standard-bearer, Sen. Manuel Villar, in gathering under one roof candidates from every political spectrum—left, right and center.

"Loren is a calm person. You never hear her say anything about the candidates. And even with the senatorial candidates—they are easy to be with. We have a genuine camaraderie... you see the

LP Senate bets bare secret of their unity

By Jocelyn R. Uy

HOW COME NO ONE IS defecting from the Liberal Party? Despite limited funding, the LP remains intact.

Their secret: LP standard-bearer Benigno "Noyoy" Aquino III knows how to take care of his constituents.

It's Noyoy's little acts of thoughtfulness that they find most affecting, according to the LP's senatorial candidates—Representatives Ruffy Biazon, Teodoro Guebara III and Raula Hernandez, and guest candidate, detained Army Brig. Gen. Danilo Lim, represented by his wife, Aloy.

Why Nicky's son convinced him to run

EVERYONE KNOWS THAT Sergio Rep. Prospero Pichay, son of President Macapagal-Arroyo's political adviser, is heavily involved in the Lakas-Kampi-CMD campaign. But what exactly is his responsibility for?

While Interior Secretary

Parasito Pano is the de facto advisor of the ruling party's standard-bearer Gilbert "Gibo" Teodoro and rising star Raula Hernandez, Pichay is "the impulsive" (overseer) advisor of the party's six senatorial allies, according to Pichay himself.

Pichay was a recent guest at the Senate Reception, along with lawyer Adel Tatarao, Nationalista Party spokesperson and senatorial candidate. He arrived late and engaged in light banter with reporters before the formal started.

When Teodoro came in, Pichay approached him with a big grin, shook his hand, and said:

"I'm watching the mauling between your standard-bearer (Sen. Manuel 'Manny' Villar) and (Liberal Party standard-bearer Sen. Benigno Noyoy) Aquino. I have to tell you, I'm enjoying it."

At the forum, Pichay vowed eternal loyalty to the definition

Bohol's identical triplets 'Tres Marias' amazing at 82

By Olso A. Fuentes
Aquino-Villars

COLELLA, BOHOL—THERE'S COMPARE for the Bohol triplets who turned 82 this year.

Known as the three Marias—Marta Magdalena, Maria Cleofe and Maria So-lomo—the identical triplets were born to Lucio Bueque and Feliciano Lumanin in Poblacion, Cebu, on Feb. 18, 1928.

Being triplets, they never failed to arouse curiosity. However, everyone thought it was pretty amazing when they reached the age of 82.

"Honestly, our parents had other names in mind for the girls who happened as twins as late as the three Marias," said Magdalena in Cebu.

Magdalena is considered the eldest because she came out first, followed by Cleofe and finally, Solome.

Triplets are rare and even rarer as during pre-war days.

"Our parents told us our house was like a church when we were kids. People would come to the three babies here to one another," Cleofe said.

Cleofe and Magdalena, both single mothers, live in the house of the la-

Church-backed group asks COA: Bare report on Malampaya funds

PUERTO PRINCESA CITY—THE KILUSANG LOVE Malampaya (KLM), a Catholic Church-backed lobby group, is asking the Commission on Audit (COA) to release a report that allegedly details anomalies in infrastructure projects funded by Malampaya gas royalty shares.

Dr. Jose Antonio Ibarra, president of KLM, said the group began only this week soliciting signatures to pressure the COA to disclose the full audit report that it had received following receipt of a copy of some statements by building and infrastructure development in Malampaya-based projects in southern Palawan.

"We are asking the COA to disclose the report to the mass eye of accountability. This is a matter of transparency," Ibarra said.

NBI probe

Ibarra said the group is asking from a source linked to the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI), which had conducted an investigation, point to the involvement of top officials of the Department of Public Works and Highways National Engineering District in the signing of projects that were awarded to private contractors and the substantial quality of projects that were completed.

The documents included names of officials of at least four private contractors and some senior DPWH officials, including alleged involvement in the awarding of Malampaya-based projects and their implementation.

One contractor, in certain Union Contractors of Service Engineers and Suppliers, claimed that a senior DPWH official had demanded a 25-per cent kickback in at least five infrastructure projects that were awarded to the firm.

Another private contractor claimed that the DPWH National Engineering District had been awarding projects to substandard contractors under the name of awarded contractors who were not in the list of 5 percent contractors.

False reports

One DPWH official, a certain engineer Antonio Brando, has accused an official claiming he had been pressured by the contractor to create false compliance reports so that the contractor could get the projects that were awarded to the firm.

Brando identified at least six road improvement projects costing P20 million each which he claimed were implemented with substandard quality and where contractors had been able to collect payments on the basis of false compliance reports, at the expense of state DPWH officials.

The lawyer has claimed that the awarded DPWH officials had been refused to comment.

Brando said that his group has filed graft complaints against the DPWH officials involved in the awarding of projects, and that his group could file a deeper investigation that could impact other top-level officials.

"We'll do our best to avoid unnecessary allegations," he said.

FBI from Malampaya

A majority of the projects are in Malampaya, which is a gas field in the South China Sea. The projects are for the development of the gas field, which is a major source of energy for the Philippines.

AT JUST 51 YEARS OF AGE, Vince Peréz's track record of good ideas and projects would probably take reach longer to read than finishing a sailing regatta.

But this Central Iowa entrepreneur (business-savvy and sports-driving enthusiasm) scored government official career, renewable energy advances seemed to have his career path figured out even before obtaining his Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration from the University of the Philippines in 1975.

"It seemed to me that banking was a versatile industry where it could be involved in many other industries and businesses, and its traditional banking expanded to me," he shares.

Vision from start to finish

HOW DID JAMES CAMERON direct a movie as successful as Titanic, or Avatar, or Avatar 2? It's a little hard to say, but it's clear that Cameron is an extraordinary talent. He's a visionary. He's a leader. He's a man who can inspire others to do what he can't do himself.

The answer, all leaders will agree, is the same. The best leaders are able to see a vision and then inspire others to see it. They are able to see the vision and then inspire others to see it. They are able to see the vision and then inspire others to see it.

See the Vision

Many people don't understand why some people are successful and others are not. They don't understand why some people are successful and others are not. They don't understand why some people are successful and others are not.

John C. Maxwell is a well-known author and speaker on leadership. He has written several books and given many speeches on the topic of leadership.

He is a man who can inspire others to do what he can't do himself. He is a man who can inspire others to do what he can't do himself. He is a man who can inspire others to do what he can't do himself.

Step Toward the Vision

Some people see the vision, but they never step toward it. They see the vision, but they never step toward it. They see the vision, but they never step toward it.

They cannot wait to see the vision. They cannot wait to see the vision. They cannot wait to see the vision. They cannot wait to see the vision. They cannot wait to see the vision.

Green Initiatives from the SM Supermalls

GREEN DESTINATIONS

If you are taking a summer holiday around the country with family and friends, a visit to the SM Supermalls is more than a shopping trip. With green design initiatives incorporated into their architecture, malls like SM City North EDSA, the SM Mall of Asia, SM City Baguio, SM City Santa Rosa, and SM City Bacoled can be considered green destinations. And while a zero-energy building or ZEB continues to be the Holy Grail of modern architecture, these efforts show how malls can literally come out of the box and be transformed into environmentally friendly structures.

THE SKYGARDEN AT SM CITY NORTH EDSA

SM's first mall has recently undergone an amazing transformation beginning with the opening of The Garden in 2008 and the completion of the renovation of The Forum in late 2009. Both equipped with skylights to let the natural light in, that it is the opening of the Skygarden in May last year has made SM City North EDSA a truly green destination.

Unlike other gardens, it uses recycling technology brought to the Philippines from Germany to ensure sustainability in the use of water in its maintenance. It uses a system that stores excess water in a facility underneath the park. A perfect example of green roof architecture, it has 30 species of green plants, and more, offering a special type of garden without the usual negative effect on the structure.

Used from the roof like a floating green room, the Skygarden helps reduce the harsh urban environment with lush land and waterways.

While its organic form follows the harsh urban also complements the new way-building of the mall. Connected walkways include central circulating leaves, ponds, and trees, with tunnels of shade and breezed out of the earth, giving visitors a new dimension to the traditional park experience.

The Skygarden's water features – two bubblers, a simulated flowing river at the center and waterfalls at the edge of the second floor – make it a place to relax and enjoy.

THE SM MALL OF ASIA

Expanded to the previous destination mall in the New Pacific region, the SM Mall of Asia has a breathtaking view of Manila Bay through its landscaped by the sea and Sanitaryity the Bay. The latter is a 1.5 kilometer stretch of approximately 50,000 square meters designed to be a place that brings to mind all and less summer with its promenade, baywalk park, and full landscape view.

The mall features an hourly feature that places culture and skylights of the Mall that allow the natural light to enter in, as well as open to visitors where shoppers can have a wonderful sea breeze.

SM CITY BAGUIO

SM City Baguio's unique architectural design is a combination of Baguio's natural beauty and scenic mountain views. Designed to follow the natural shape of the land, it has balconies inspired by the Banawe Rice Terraces that give one a breathtaking 360 degree view of the beauty of Baguio and a view of its pine forested mountains.

SM CITY SANTA ROSA

The Butterfly Garden is one of SM City Santa Rosa's attractions. Located at the center of the mall, this is a mini butterfly farm where one can see beautiful butterflies in flight or in repose. It also has a booth nearby where one can buy butterfly souvenirs as gifts or collectibles.

SM CITY BACOLOD

It is Bacolod's new version of the SM Mall of Asia. Just as the Mall of Asia has a spectacular view of Manila Bay, SM City Bacoled is located near the harbor of Guisano Bay. This gives the outposts the added attraction of both air and breathtaking view of the bay.

OTHER GREEN DESTINATIONS

Innovations in design have made it possible for SM City Baguio and SM City Poreales to have elevators fans and SM City Poreales to have fan shades, all highlighting green design.

Make Your Own Havaianas
Turns Five

It's time again for the summer event anticipated by all fashionistas and nighties. Havaianas, the world's favorite flip-flop brand, is celebrating its 5th year of offering Filipinos the chance to add personalized color and style to their lives — and their happy soles.

Havaianas, the first flip-flop brand to offer pair customization in the country, holds its 5th annual Make Your Own Havaianas event at the Rockwell Tent from April 22 to 26, 2010. In honor of this landmark anniversary, Havaianas aims to make this fashion event bigger, better and brighter than ever.

"We always endeavor to improve Make Your Own Havaianas every year," says Anne Gonzalez, Managing Director of Havaianas Philippines. "This year, though, we can really say that we're going all out. We're celebrating the 5th installation of this landmark event in honor of all the Havaianas that show up each year."

Make Your Own Havaianas 2010, presented by Power Plant Mall, is the perfect venue to unleash your creativity and let your imagination go wild. Aside from the extensive color palette of Top and Slim soles and straps, Havaianas fans can choose from stylish new options — from silver letter pins and laser-cut-studded pins to jelly, fluorescent and glow-in-the-dark top straps.

For true Havaianasistas (those obsessed with these comfy and stylish flip-flops) can also select a Philippine-designed MPD commemorative sole and pins as mementos of this historic event. With all these options, you'll never run out of creative ideas for your own personal version of the world's favorite flip-flops. So head over to the Rockwell Tent from April 22-26 and Make Your Own Havaianas!

Celebrate 5 years of this and colorful customization at www.havaianasphilippines.com/rockwell. Be sure to watch the Havaianas Cinderella Story at the site, where a young man searches for his soul mate with only one ball of a Make Your Own Havaianas pair to guide him.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and physical fitness of obese women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 20 obese women who were randomly assigned to either a diet or a control group. The diet group was instructed to consume a diet that was 1000 kcal less than their maintenance level. The control group was instructed to consume a diet that was equal to their maintenance level. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 10 weeks. The diet group showed a significant decrease in body weight, body fat, and waist circumference. The control group showed no significant change in these measures. The diet group also showed a significant increase in physical fitness, as measured by a 6-minute walk test. The control group showed no significant change in physical fitness. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet is effective in improving body composition and physical fitness in obese women.

There is one common, yet often overlooked, factor that can cause significant problems for your business: your employees. You may not think of them as a liability, but they can be. If you don't take the time to properly train and manage your staff, you could be in for a lot of trouble. Here are some tips to help you avoid common employee-related mistakes:

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 40 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either a supervised walking program or a control group. The walking program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised walking, 3 times per week, for 30 minutes per session. The control group consisted of 20 women who did not participate in the walking program. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks for physical and psychological health. The physical health assessment included measurements of weight, body mass index (BMI), waist circumference, and blood pressure. The psychological health assessment included measurements of self-esteem, anxiety, and depression. The results of the study showed that the walking program had a significant positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the subjects. The walking program resulted in a significant decrease in weight, BMI, waist circumference, and blood pressure. The walking program also resulted in a significant increase in self-esteem and a significant decrease in anxiety and depression. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program can improve the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

Alar is born with Operation Smile Cebu

Alar, a 10-year-old boy, was born with a cleft lip and palate. He was born in Cebu, Philippines, and was the first child of his parents to be born with this condition. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alar, were very happy to have a healthy child, but they were concerned about the future of their son. They knew that Alar would need surgery to correct his condition, and they were worried about the cost of the surgery. They decided to seek help from Operation Smile, a non-profit organization that provides free medical care to children with clefts and other facial differences. Operation Smile Cebu was able to provide Alar with the surgery he needed, and he is now healthy and happy.

Why are we so miserable in our happiness?

By Margie David Collins
Contributor

THERE ARE TWO TRAGEDIES in life, Wilde said. One is not getting what we want, the other is getting it. Be careful what you wish for.

We have the best doctors, two-on-one garage houses in Italy, mobile, the 30-hour workweek, summer vacations, three and a half meals a day, close relatives, designer labels—all the stuff we think we need and more besides that we don't need.

Important life lessons, technology has given us an over-saturation of gadgets and gizmos. We are living longer, richer and healthier than ever before. But we are also more miserable. We are living longer, richer and healthier than ever before. But we are also more miserable. We are living longer, richer and healthier than ever before. But we are also more miserable.

When we already have so much, why do we want more? Why would we want to be happy if it's making us increasingly miserable?

In 1974, the economist Richard Easterlin argued to what he called the Easterlin paradox: that while economic growth does not necessarily improve the human condition, any kind of income satisfaction or happiness. It brings, instead, a wealth of diminishing returns.

Building a contentment paradox, he said that people in poor countries become happier once they could afford the basic necessities. That within a country, rich people tend to be happier than poor people, but rich countries tend not to be happier than poor countries, and in countries just below, they do not become happier like previous, but poor people tend to be.

If you expect the universe, you will be sorely disappointed

More, more

The least and part of everyday life is this: The more we get, the more we want, and the more we want, the more we get. We have to be very careful of our desires and the things we want. We have to be very careful of our desires and the things we want. We have to be very careful of our desires and the things we want.

We have to be very careful of our desires and the things we want. We have to be very careful of our desires and the things we want. We have to be very careful of our desires and the things we want.

Finding my inner Dorothy

BANGOR CITY, BRITAIN—ON THE long and winding yellow brick road to Kansas City, I finally learn how Dorothy felt when she found herself marooned in the land of Oz. I'm here to attend a conference on death, dying and bereavement education and counseling, a week-long event that I wrote to go to each year so that I can learn the latest from experts in the field of Thanatology.

I have the "Heart of Oz" and the movie Wicked is playing. The trip from San Francisco to Kansas City always runs behind with delays and heart-breaking moments. My plane was totally delayed there, concerned due to mechanical problems, then finally maintained after almost six hours of waiting. For the time, I had learned true compassion, traveled through horrific turbulence, unsure of what any hope would mean to be Kansas, and there on the last leg of my flight, encountered a terrible thunderstorm with my suitcase, a cell phone in the early 20s in the verge of either a huge crack or worse—about 300 feet of wind flying straight to complete the land of Oz.

Although I have yet to meet the business, The Man or Lion while in Oz, I have met many wonderful people highly specialized field. Men and women who take the book The Wizard, these great and common-sense characters that knowledge and method to share their vulnerability.

The experience of being lost but never again allowed to be so—very very true—was my work of imagination, it has been going on emotionally enhancing and liberating experience as well as an inspiring and life-changing time.

ROOTS AND WINGS

Goffy Kishon-Gibelin

Inspired by movie

Getting inspiration from the Wizard of Oz, we are there with you, some of the ways I have found my inner Dorothy in the hope that you may find yours, too.

1. Follow your own yellow brick road. It's only in the last couple of years that I have learned to fly solo in many areas of my life. In the film, the good witch Dorothy in the yellow brick road that will lead her to the one person who can get her back to Kansas in my life, I've had to work the amount of many people in many areas, and through these are people that I respect and love, often, especially now that I have come to midlife. I have learned to trust that voice within. What have you ever felt in life but other ways it is a measure of love. I always like to tell people that when they find their true love, it's a dead end, but when a will to resist the will. One is never too old to change and pursue dreams. I am glad to see of some cities where there is some reason to pursue as they continue to pursue new dreams. Keep your passion and enthusiasm.

2. Over your mind. One of the movie's highlights is the discovery that the much-loved wizard is a fraud. Our again, I was reminded that we must always be true to ourselves, our beliefs and calling. Dorothy is going to be able to show "wonderfully" to her dog strength, too. I saw that many times this week during the conference, as many people in the field shared their stories—sometimes having to do with a life-changing loss. How wonderful, I thought. I can't wait to share with you that all of these stories mean so much. Maybe, maybe, but the best here is you must never attempt to be someone you are not. The people who matter in this life will love you exactly as you are.

3. Look inside. Dorothy only had to be motivated to keep climbing her only red shoes to get to where she wanted to go. It is with us. We must not look for the end of all we need to pursue, but dreams and goals become as already here in this life.

Look up and seek guidance and direction. Flowed through my own experiences, I have learned to be a human being. I've been blessed with the Divine, and with this guidance, I can tell you from experience that He will allow you glimpses of wisdom and grace. I've always believed that the soul always knows what it needs, and that it can remain open and learn very slowly, but learn at the company that lead us on who, or what, we need to do, so help ourselves that path are most below.

4. Hang on to your ruby slippers. In the face of challenges and difficulties, sometimes the last of hope becomes given to certain values and principles. When the going gets rough, hold on to those ruby slippers. When you have to your head the something isn't right, stand firm and stay close to yourself. Breathe and then act, and it can be such a struggle, but remember that the greatest lesson learned here always comes at the cost of great emotional pain. And this is to be sure it's your heart and spirit that are beating the lessons. Nothing good and lasting ever came easy.

5. Be fearless and faithful in the face of flying monkeys. Many things in life will not go your way. Sometimes, they happen when you least expect them. It is with us. We must not look for the end of all we need to pursue, but dreams and goals become as already here in this life.

They are just "monkeys," or temporary setbacks. Deal with them, and keep moving on.

6. Be the yellow brick road that a life. Travel with faith, wisdom, kindness, courage, resilience. Always take with you that which the journey, the Man, Lion and Dorothy sought to find on the yellow brick road. In order to be fully human, one must possess all of these traits. To experience joy and real meaning, every person must share deeply from his heart, head, courage and spirit as much as the case may be. When you have all these, then knowing yourself and transcending it—flying monkeys and wicked witches included.

Prior to her revelation, there was a report that LJ would take a leave of absence from her own CBS 7 shows ("Bubble Gang" and "The Kumburong da Kapatid") because of a "medical condition."

A source claims that LJ had complained of a bum back.

Turned out to be a baby bump. LJ will fly to the US, where her mom is based, to give birth three or four months from now.

A note says that LJ still gets to finish her studies in La Salle, where she's supposedly doing well.

"Avatar" star ...

Nick, a laugh, also admitted she still perceived Thelma Houston very new and fun. She narrated how some folks ask for her autograph, thinking her to be Thelma, who would sign in "D.D." "One day with Rat, that's really fascinating," she said.

Bad-ass chick

In her review for the "The Losers," Entertainment Weekly, a "Snuggles" (hick) has a violent scene with Jeffrey Dean Morgan and then they engage in hot lovemaking. Curiously, she described Morgan the hick sex scene as "fucking."

The crowd roared. James (or Jim) was back! He'd lost his leg the week before, when he'd been hit by a truck and lay for two weeks in the hospital. "When I was asked how many amputations were, I told him that I had and he'd go ballistic. He said, 'Go on, you son of a bitch!'" says the doctor with a grin. James (or Jim) was back! He was the most confident of men. He said, "I don't know you, but I like you. Give me your name and your phone number." That was the first time I'd ever met him. "That was the first time I told him, 'Well, the only name among the three was 'him' and when I mentioned, it was Ephraim [Wilder] who was considered a different name, wasn't it, yet, 'No.' Well, I had had no intention. I had a good meeting with Ephraim at the end. I was one of those doctors who accommodate the law. You do appear to be English but I don't know how to say it."

Drinking Water

“I was glad to hear the doctor’s assessment. ‘My personality really matches with wine,’ she said. ‘I can’t watch as much sports but I can drink fast. I can even drink anybody sometimes and I can also deal with pain.’”

Of the "new project" that she has been developing, Lee is especially excited about "a film with [Bill] Schweitzer here—it's on my bucket list" and "would definitely become a movie that's very personal, my way of going back to my roots and little stories that mean so much."

But in saying so, she's also hinting that she does "Star Trek 2." "Within a month, we'll have specific filming dates for 'Star Trek 2,'" she revealed. "So we have to do whatever we have to do to have the film appear in a movie."

the fact behind the argument is that unless big pieces of ivory are going into production, it's not that bad, says Jock Macdonald, a conservation biologist at the University of Guelph in Ontario. "I think we already know what we're going to do with poaching," he says. "The next month is the next fight. I kept telling him, 'Well, you really need to get really good with that gun he's in the Amazon to Brazil. That's a powder horn. It's like a little machine.'"
